Changes are afoot...

Here at the library, we are continuously striving to improve the quality and relevance of our collections and services. Sometimes we have to let go of under-utilized resources and services to make room for recent scholarship and improved modes to access services. Several big changes are in the works in our website, database, book collections, and tutorials—we hope you like them.

New Navigation on our Website

We have been experimenting with a new way of navigating the Library's website using drop-down menus. We will be debuting the new look after the end of Spring semester. We hope that the new look will make it easier to find the great resources available on our website — let us know what you think!
